WARHINGTON. D. C., Dec. 6 .- Following a President Clevelaud's message, presented to Congress to-day:

You are confronted at the threshold of London contemporaries of this morning's You are confronted at the threshold of meats which cannot be purchased at any issue. They realize just what President your legislative duties, with a condition of Cleveland says, whether he means it or the national finances which imperatively ers who are willing to sell, may unreasonate and careful consider. The amount of money annually exacted, through the operation of present laws, from the industries and necessities necessary to meet the expenses of the Government. When we consider that the theory of our institutions guarantees to body, and so widely scattered are its every citizen the full enjoyment of all the fruits of his industry and enterprise, with only such deduction as may be his clare towards the careful and economical maintenance of the Government which protects him, it is plain that the exaction of more than this is indefensible extortion, and a calpable betrayal of American fairness and inside. This condition of our treasury is not altogether new, and it has more than once of late been submitted to the people's representatives in the Congress, who alone can apply a remedy. And yet the situation still continues with aggravated incidents, more than ever preseging financial convulsion and wide spread disector. It will not do to neglect this situation because its dangers are not now palbably immilient and apparent. They crist none the less certainly, and await the unforsees

STEPS TO "RELIEVE THE PRESSURE." The annual contributions to the sinking fied, amounting in the aggregate to $138, 058 320 94, and deducted from the surplus purpose, outstanding 3 per cent bonds of the Government. During the six months prior to June 20, 1887, the sarplus revenue had grown so large by repeated accumu-lations, and it was feared the withdrawal of this great sum of money needed by the people, would so affect the business of the people, would so affect the business of the country that the sum of $79,864,100 of dropping from 4 to 42 points. ment of which we have the right to inelat upon. The contribution to the sinking fund which furnishes the occasion for expenditure in the purchase of bonds has been already made for the current year, so that there is no outlet in that direction.

A DOUBTFUL POWER. In the present state of legislation the only pretense of any existing executive power to restore, at this time, any part of our surplus revenue to the people by its expenditure, consists in the supposition that the Secretary of the Treasury may enter the market and purchase the bonds of the Government not yet due at a rate of premium to be agreed upon. The only provision of law from which such a power could be derived is found in an appropriation bill passed a number of years ago; and it is subject to the suspication, instead of conferring a continuing discretion and authority. No condition ought to exist which would justify the grant of power to the business of the people, in an unusual to manner, money held in the Treasury, and thus affect, a tile will, the financial situation of the country; and if it is deemed wise to lodge in the Secretary of the Treasury the authority in the present juncture to purchase bonds, it should be plainly veated, and provided as far as possible, with such checks and limitations as will define this official's right and discretion, and at the same time relieve him from yundae responsibility.

In considering the question of purchasing bonds as a means of restoring to circulation the surplus money accumulating in the Treasury, it should be borne in mind that premiums must of course be paid of our surplus revenue to the people by the Tressury, it should be borne in mind that premiums must of course be paid apon such purchase, that there may be a bly subance the cost of such bonds to the Go criment. It has been suggested that the present bonded debt might be refunded at a less rate of interest, and the difference between the old and new security paid in cash, thus finding use for the surplus in the Treasury. The success of this plan, it is apparent, must depend upon the volition of the holders of the present bonds; and it is not entirely certain that the inducement which must be offered them would result in more financial benefits the Government than the nurchase them would result in more financial ben-effects the Government than the purchase of bonds, while the latter proposition would reduce the principal of the debt by actual payment, instead of extend-ingit.

out the country for the use of the people is, it seems to me, exceedingly objectiona-ble in principle, as establishing too close a temporary expadient to meet an urgent necessity. Legislative and executive effort should generally be in the opposite direc-tion, and should have a tendency to di-yorce, as much and as fast as can safely be done, the Treasury Department from pri-

WARNED AGAINST EXTRAVAGANCS. Oi course it is not expected that unneces eary and extravagant appropriations will edt gaibiova lo ecoque adt rol obam ed se made for the parpose of avoiding the accumulation of an excess of revenue. Such expenditure, beside the demoralization of all just conception of public duty which it entails, stimulates a babit of recklese improvidence not in the least inconsistent with the mission of our people or the high and beneficent purposes of our Government. I have deemed it my duty to thus bring to the knowledge of my countrymen, as well as to the attention of their representatives charged with the responsibility of legislative relief, the gravity of our financial situation. The failure of the Congress herotofore to provide against the dangers which it was quite evident the very nature of the difficulty must necessarily produce caused a condition of financial distress and apprehension since your last adjournment, which taxed to the utness all the suthority and expedients within executive control; and these appear now to be exhausted. If disaster results from the continued insciton of Congress, the responsibility must rest where it belongs. Though the situation thus far considered is fraught with danger which should be fully realized, and though it presents features of wrong to the people as well as peril to the country, it is but a result growing out of a perfectly palpable and apparent cause, constantly repredents the same abstraint greater. ountrymen, as well as to the attention of stances—a conjected national treasury and a depleted monetary condition in the and a depicted monotary condition in the business of the country. It need hard be stated that while the present situation demands a remedy, we can only keaved from a like predicament in the future by the removal of its cause.

AGAINST PROTECTION.

Our scheme of taxation, by means of which this needless surplus is taken from the people and put into the public treas ury, consists of a tariff or duty levied apon importations from abroad and inter-nal revenue taxes levied upon the con-sumption of tobacco and spiritnous and malt liquors. It must be conceded that none of the things subjected to internal revenue taxation are, excitely speaking, necessaries; there appears to be no just complaint of this taxation by the con-sumers of these articles, and there ceems to be nothing so well able to bear the burden without hardship to any portion of the people.

Those who buy imports pay the duty charged thoreon into the public treasury, but the great majority of our citizens, who buy domestic articles of the same class, pay a sum at least approximately equal to this duty to the home manufacturer. This reference to the operation of our tariff laws is not made by way of instruction, but in order that we may be constantly reminded of the manner in which they impose a burden upon those who consume domestic products as well as those who consume imported "articles, and thus create a tax upon all our people. It is not proposed to entirely relieve the country of this taxation. It must be extend the consumer of the manner in which they impose a burden upon those who consume domestic products as well as those who create a tax upon all our people. It is not proposed to entirely relieve the country of this taxation. It must be extend the country of this taxation. He declares that the theoretical question as between protection and free trade "entirely irrelevant," and the most striking and interesting part of the message is devoted to precisely that sort of argument with which any free trade representative in Congress, or any free trade professor in a college class room, or the author of any free trade text book on political economy, would begin an attack upon the theory of protection. This, we say, is the most parts ble received.

The Hon. Charles D. Jacob was elected would begin an attack upon the theory of Mayor by a plurality of 4,000 over Avery, the Republican candidate, Judge W. B. THEREBURY ADIES' BAZAAR

Opened Auspici.u., Last Night in Odd Fellows bleck, The Bazaar for which the ladies of the Hebrew congregation of this city have been so busily engaged in arranging during the past few weeks, and which has been extensively advertised and talked about during the past few days, opened in siding seven miles from this place, arrived about during the past lew days, opened in in town on the hunt for his sister, who had during the day eloped with one John Jones for the purpose of marrying him. Telephone messages were sent out to several officials in the county to arrest the girl, as sho is but 14 years old.

Upon investigation it was shown that the girl had been attending school in her last of all word reports. It is gravely the girl had been attending school in her last of all word reports. on the part of all good people. It is grati-lying to note the fact that in preparing for this Bazaar the ladies have been greatly

The hall has been decorated and fitted up with booths in a most artistic manner. It has been transformed into a veritable bower of beauty; nothing like the richness of decorations, the graceful architecture of the booths and the general air of elegance that pervades all through the place has been seen in Wheeling since the famous Bazzar of Nations held a few years ago in the Public Suiding. The place has been seen in Wheeling since the famous Bazaar of Nations held a few years ago in the Paulic Building. The efficiency of the general Committee on Arrangements is plainly demonstrated by all this; but the evidences of that efficiency do not stop there, for the booths are filled to their full capacity with a collection or articles that appear to be varied enough to suit the desires of every one. All these articles have been donated and are for sale. To, even attempt an enumeration would be useless; there are articles for every department of the household and for one's personal use and adornment. In collecting them the general committee has, of course, been assisted by nearly every one, both ladies and gentlemen, in the congretion, but the credit for the directing of the Bazaar to a glittering success is due the Committee of Arrangements, consisting of Mrs. Henry Baer, chairman, Mrs. Rheinstrom, Mrs. Henry Speyer, Mrs. M. J. Brilles and Mrs. Elsenburg.

The sides of the hall are teststafully hung with bunting and evergreen arranged in pretty loops and festous. In the centre of the hall are three very handsome booths, the bunting decorations of which are superb. They were arranged by Mrs. Klapheck.

delightful one. To-night the Opera House
